The Scotland Act 2016³ gives Scottish Parliament powers over Carer's Allowance, Disability Living Allowance, Attendance Allowance and Severe Disablement Allowance, which had been administered to Scottish clients by the Department for Work and Pensions. In September 2018, Carer's Allowance became the first of these benefits to have executive competency transferred from the Department for Work and Pensions to Social Security Scotland, the executive agency of Scottish Government which is responsible for delivering the social security benefits for Scotland. From 1 April 2020, executive competency for Disability Living Allowance, Attendance Allowance and Severe Disablement Allowance was also transferred from the Department for Work and Pensions to Social Security Scotland.

There is a transitional period to allow administration of this benefit to be transferred, during which the Department for Work and Pensions will continue to administer Carer's Allowance, Disability Living Allowance, Attendance Allowance and Severe Disablement Allowance on Social Security Scotland's behalf.

The statistics for Carer's Allowance, Disability Living Allowance, Attendance Allowance and Severe Disablement Allowance are being published as official statistics in accordance with Statistics and Registration Service Act 2007 and the Code of Practice for Statistics⁴ to ensure they meet high standards of trustworthiness, quality and public value.

The statistics for Carer's Allowance Supplement are being published as experimental statistics, which are defined in the Code of Practice for Statistics as "new official statistics undergoing evaluation. They are published in order to involve users and stakeholders in their development and as a means to build in quality at an early stage." These statistics have not yet been assessed by the UK Statistics Authority, so have not been designated as National Statistics⁵.

Carer's Allowance Supplement at October 2021 Eligibility Date

Payments

- To date, 81,920 Carer's Allowance Supplement payments have been made to carers who were eligible in October 2021 [Table 1, Chart 1].
- Each payment was for £462.80, including the standard Carer's Allowance Supplement of £231.40 and an extra Coronavirus Carer's Allowance Supplement of £231.40.
- The total expenditure for October 2021 was £37.9 million [Table 1]. This is higher than the expenditure for October 2020 where each payment was £230.10.
- The number of carers paid so far for October 2021 is around 3,900 lower than for October 2020. However, this is likely to increase as the October 2021 figure does not yet include any backdated payments. The Background Note shows that for the October 2018 to April 2020 eligibility dates, the number of carers receiving payments increased by around 5% through backdating of payments to carers that are found to have been eligible for past dates in subsequent scans. For the October 2020 and April 2021 eligibility dates, the number of backdated payments to date has been smaller but may still increase.

Age and Gender

- Around 68.8% of Carer's Allowance Supplement payments were made to female carers, while 31.1% of payments were made to male carers [Table 1].
- Overall, the number of Carer's Allowance Supplement payments generally increased with age band up to age 64, while relatively few payments were made to those aged 65 and over [Table 2, Chart 2].
- Around 46.4% of Carer's Allowance Supplement payments were made to carers aged over 50, compared to around 10.8% to those aged under 30 [Chart 2].
- Around 4.1% of Carer's Allowance Supplement payments were made to carers aged 65 and over, while less than 1% of payments were to those aged under 18 [Chart 2].
- The local authorities with the greatest percentage of carers receiving Carer's Allowance Supplement payments were Glasgow City with 15.8% of payments, North Lanarkshire with 8.4% and Fife with 7.7%. [Table 3, Chart 4].

Carer's Allowance Supplement Payments since September 2018

Number of Carers

- Since September 2018, 658,785 Carer's Allowance Supplement payments have been made to 126,055 carers [Table 1, Table 4]. The number of carers who have received a payment has increased each financial year excluding 2021/22. This is likely to be due to backdated payments having been made for previous years, but only some backdated payments made in 2021/22 to date (for the April 2021 eligibility).
- The number of carers receiving payments increased between each eligibility date from April 2018 to October 2020 [Table 1, Chart 1]. The figures for April and October 2021 are slightly lower, but as explained in the payments section and in the background note, these may yet increase with backdated payments still to be made.

Expenditure

- In total, £188.0 million has been paid to carers since 2018 [Table 1, Chart 1].
 - £34.9 million was for 2018/19 eligibility dates, with each payment being £221.00.
 - £37.0 million was for 2019/20 eligibility dates, with each payment being £226.20.
 - £58.4 million was for 2020/21 eligibility dates, which includes an additional Coronavirus Carer's Allowance Supplement of £230.10 for the April 2020 eligibility date.
 - So far £57.6 million has been paid for the 2021/22 eligibility dates, which includes an additional Coronavirus Carer's Allowance Supplement of £231.40 for the October 2021 eligibility date.
- Due to the Coronavirus Carer's Allowance Supplement, total expenditure for the April 2020 and October 2021 eligibility dates is around double the expenditure for the other eligibility dates.

Age Band

- The proportion of carers in each age band has remained relatively stable since the April 2018 eligibility date, with the greatest change being in the '65 and over' age band.
- The number of carers in the '65 and over' category more than quadrupled from 795 at the April 2018 eligibility date to 3,320 at the October 2021 eligibility date. As a proportion, this was an increase from 1.0% in April 2018 to 4.1% by October 2021 [Table 2, Chart 3]. This increase is also reflected in the Carer's Allowance statistics.
- The main reason for this is likely to be increases in State Pension Age for both men and women⁶. Carers stop receiving Carer's Allowance and Carer's Allowance Supplement if they start receiving State Pension and this increases their income over a threshold amount. Therefore as State Pension age rises, the age at which some carers will stop receiving Carer's Allowance and Carer's Allowance Supplement will also rise. This means there will be more carers in the higher age bands remaining in receipt of Carer's Allowance and Carer's Allowance Supplement.

Gender

- The proportion of male and female carers has remained similar since the April 2018 eligibility date, with more than two thirds of carers being female, and less than one third being male across each eligibility date [Table 1].

Local Authority

- The percentage of carers in receipt of Carer's Allowance Supplement in each local authority was similar across all eligibility dates, changing by up to 0.6% between each eligibility date in each local authority [Table 3].

⁶ Women's State Pension age increased to 65 between April 2016 and November 2018. From December 2018, the State Pension age for both men and women started to increase and will reach 67 by 2028:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/state-pension-age-timetable/state-pension-age-timetable#increase-in-state-pension-age-from-66-to-67-under-the-pensions-act-2014>

Carers since September 2018

- At each eligibility date from October 2018 onwards, around 89% to 94% of carers receiving payments had also received a payment at the previous date, and around 5% to 11% had not received a payment at the previous date [Table 5, Chart 5].
- Of the carers that had not received a payment on the previous date, most were receiving a payment for the first time, and a smaller proportion were receiving a payment after a break of one or more eligibility dates [Table 5].
- Between each eligibility date, around 7% to 10% of carers stopped receiving a payment (although they may have later gone on to receive a payment at a later date) [Table 5].
- Of the 81,920 carers eligible in October 2021, the data currently shows that 93.9% had received a payment for April 2021 [Table 4, Table 5].
- An additional 5.1% were receiving a payment for the first time, and 0.9% were receiving a payment after a break of one or more eligibility dates [Table 4, Table 5].
- Of the 85,270 carers eligible in April 2021, 9.8% were no longer eligible by October 2021 [Table 4, Table 5].
- These figures are likely to change in future updates to the statistics due to backdating. In particular, analysis of previous eligibility dates shows that the number of carers found to have stopped receiving payments for the last eligibility date may decrease, and the number starting or re-starting receiving payments for this date may increase.

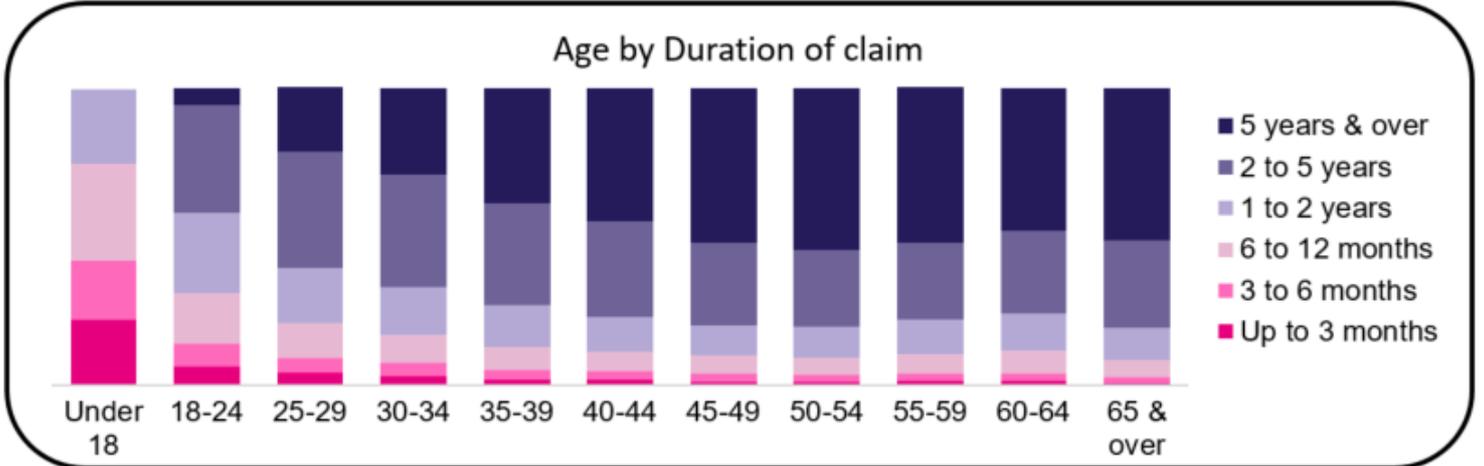

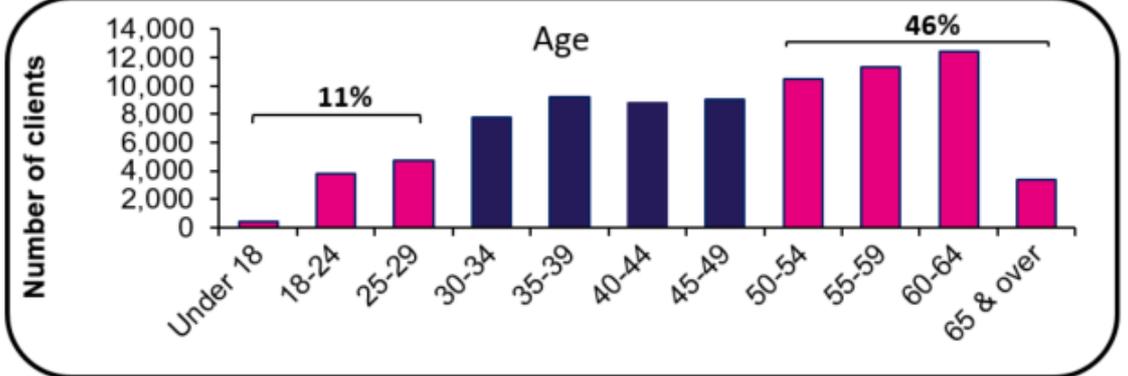

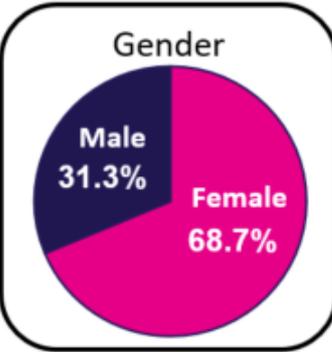

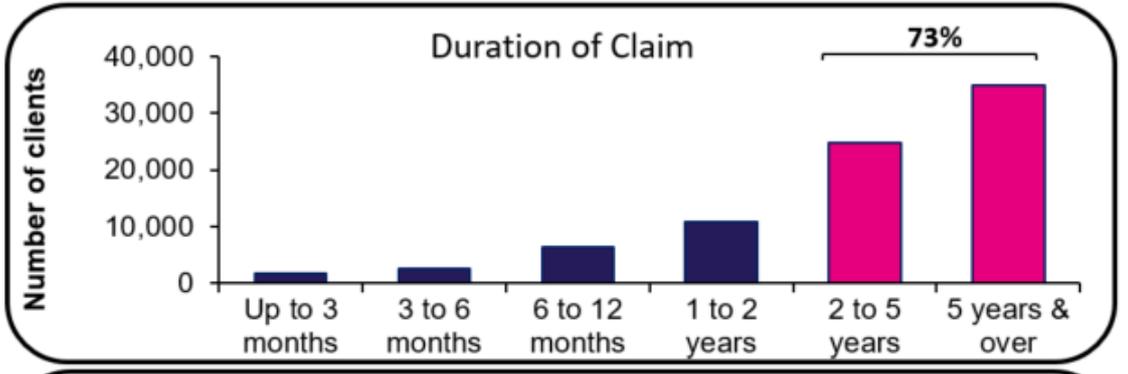

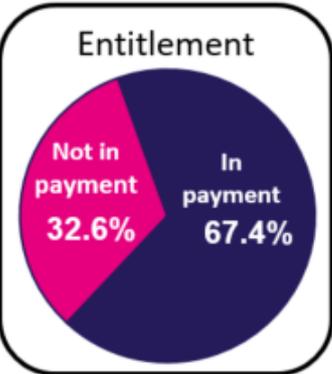

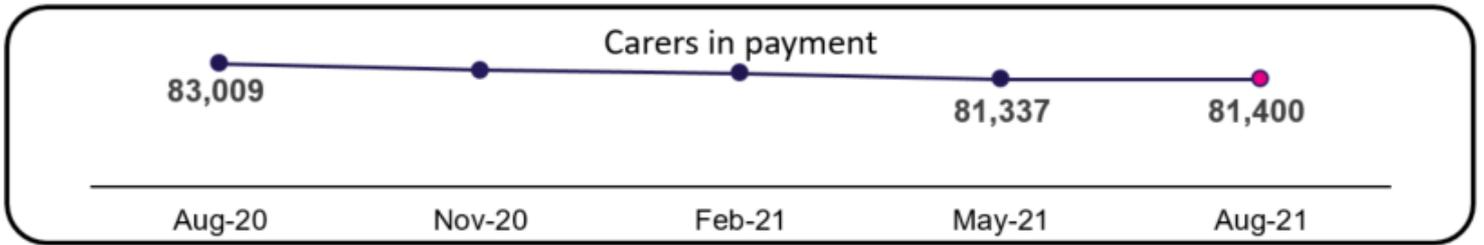

Chart 5: Carers by eligibility date

Carer's Allowance at August 2021

- In August 2021, there were 81,400 carers in Scotland in receipt of Carer's Allowance. This is a decrease of around 1.9% since August 2020 when there were 83,009. It is 0.1% increase compared to the last quarter as there were 81,337 carers at May 2021 [Carer's Allowance Table S1].
- A further 39,412 carers were entitled to Carer's Allowance but did not receive payments [Carer's Allowance Table S1]. This is typically people who are entitled to Carer's Allowance but are also eligible for another benefit such as a State Pension with a value equal to or exceeding their weekly rate of Carer's Allowance, which they receive instead of Carer's Allowance (See Background Note).
- Around 73.4% of clients have been receiving Carer's Allowance payments for two years or more. In total 43.0% have been receiving Carer's Allowance payments for five years or more [Carer's Allowance Table S4].
- Around 68.7% of Carer's Allowance clients were female and 31.3% were male [Carer's Allowance Table S2].
- Of the Carer's Allowance clients in receipt of payments, 46.1% were aged 50 or over, whereas only 11.0% were under the age of 30 [Carer's Allowance Table S3].

Summary Panel: Carer's Allowance clients to August 2021

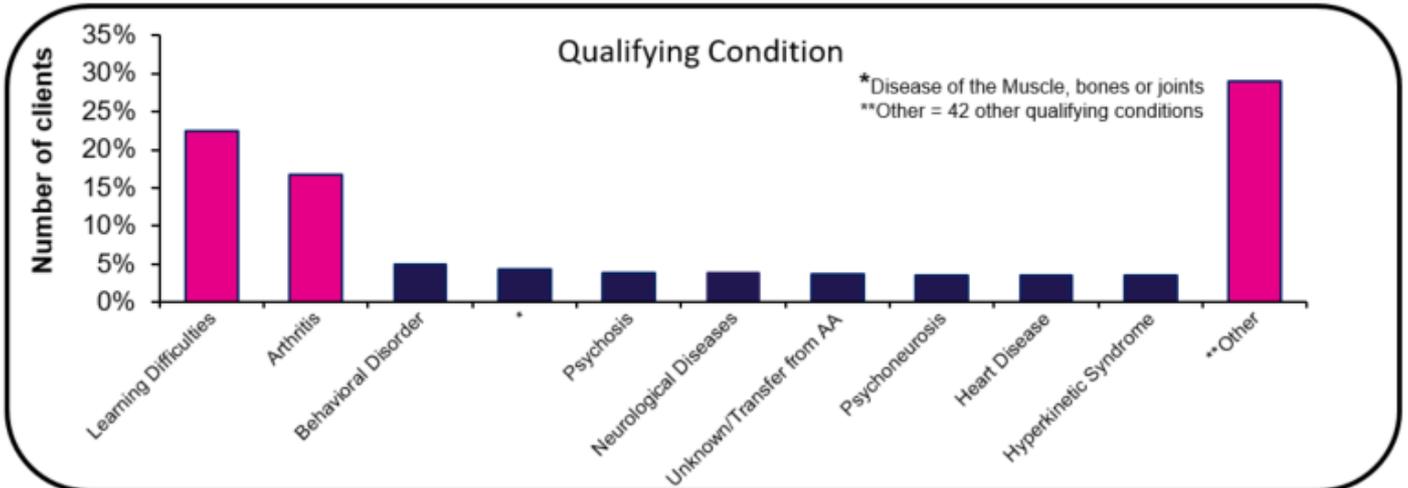

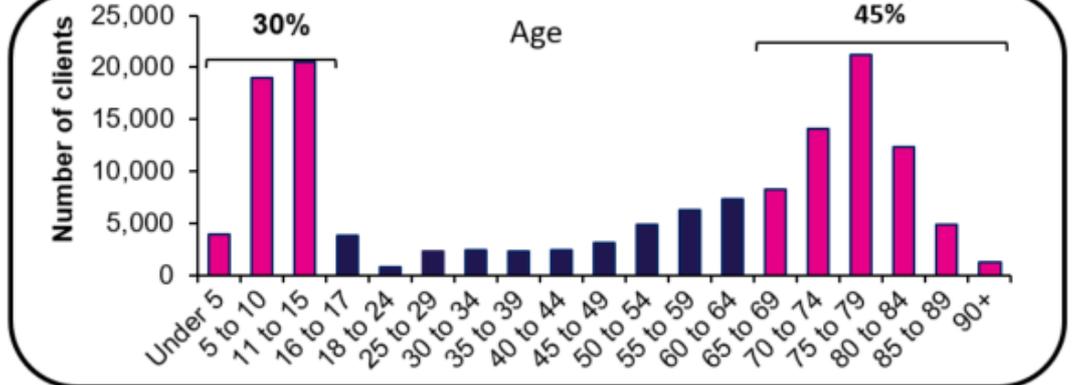

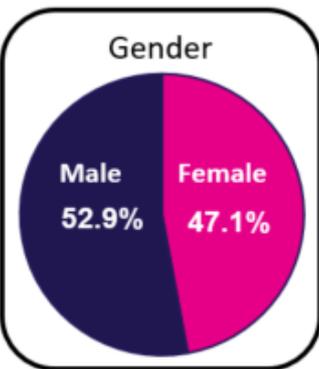

Disability Living Allowance at August 2021

- At August 2021, there were 141,328 people in Scotland in receipt of Disability Living Allowance. This is a decrease of 4% since August 2020 when there were 146,895. It is around the same as the last quarter when there were 141,394 at May 2021 [Disability Living Allowance Table S1].
- The benefit is now closed to new applications from those aged 16 and over. Additionally, from 26 July 2021 those under 16 from certain local authorities were asked to apply for Child Disability Payment rather than Disability Living Allowance (See Background Note).
- Around 73% of Disability Living Allowance clients received both the mobility and care element (see Summary Panel: Disability Living Allowance).
- Of those receiving a care award, 46.4% are on the middle rate, 32.7% receive the highest rate and 20.9% are on the lowest rate [Disability Living Allowance Table S5].
- Of those receiving a mobility award, 55.6% receive the higher rate and 44.4% receive the lower rate [Disability Living Allowance Table S6].
- Around 91.6% of the clients have been receiving Disability Living Allowance payments for two years or more. In total 80.7% have been receiving Disability Living Allowance payments for five years or more. The benefit is now closed to new applications from those aged 16 and over meaning the duration of claim of each will continue to rise (See Background Note) [Disability Living Allowance Table S4].
- Around 47.1% of Disability Living Allowance clients were female and 52.9% were male [Disability Living Allowance Table S2].
- Around 30.7% of Disability Living Allowance clients are aged under 16, and 44.1% are aged 65 and over [Disability Living Allowance Table S3].
- Only 25.3% of Disability Living Allowance clients are aged between 16-64 [Disability Living Allowance Table S3]. This is because Disability Living Allowance is ending for people aged 16 to 64. While under 16s can continue to claim Disability Living Allowance, it is closed for new claims from those over 16. Working aged people aged 16 and over can make new claims for Personal Independence Payment, and those with existing Disability Living Allowance claims are being invited to apply for Personal Independence Payment. People who have reached State Pension age can apply for Attendance Allowance, although those born on or before 8 April 1948 with an existing Disability Living Allowance claim can continue to claim Disability Living Allowance.
- The most common disabling condition was Learning Difficulties which accounts for 22.5% of clients, followed by Arthritis which accounts for 16.8% of clients [Disability Living Allowance Table S7].

Summary Panel: Disability Living Allowance clients to August 2021

		Mobility Rate
		Higher	Lower	Nil
Care Award Rate	Higher	16%	10%	3%
	Middle	13%	21%	7%
	Lower	8%	5%	5%

Attendance Allowance at August 2021

- At August 2021, there were 123,460 people in Scotland in receipt of Attendance Allowance. This is a decrease of 2.2% since August 2020 when there were 126,291. It is a 0.2% decrease since the last quarter when there were 123,762 at May 2021 [Attendance Allowance Table S1].
- A further 16,459 people were entitled to Attendance Allowance but did not receive a payment [Attendance Allowance Table S1]. This is likely to be because they are eligible for another benefit with a value equal to or exceeding their weekly rate of Attendance Allowance, such as State Pension.
- Around 64.7% of Attendance Allowance clients received the higher rate and 35.3% received the lower rate [Attendance Allowance Table S5].
- In total 73.4% of clients have been receiving Attendance Allowance payments for two years or more, with 41.7% receiving the payment for five years or more [Attendance Allowance Table S4].
- Around 62.6% of Attendance Allowance clients were female and 37.4% were male [Attendance Allowance Table S2].
- Of the Attendance Allowance clients in receipt of payments, 59.5% were aged 80 or over [Attendance Allowance Table S3].
- The most common disabling condition was Arthritis which accounts for 28.9% of clients, followed by Unknown which accounts for 10.0% of clients [Attendance Allowance Table S6].

Summary Panel: Attendance Allowance clients at August 2021

Severe Disablement Allowance at August 2021

- At August 2021, there were 1,392 people in Scotland in receipt of Severe Disablement Allowance. This is a decrease of 2.3% since the last quarter when there were 1,425 at May 2021. It is a decrease of around 88.3% since August 2015 when there were 11,876 [Severe Disablement Allowance Table S1].
- Around 82.4% of Severe Disablement Allowance clients were female and 17.4% were male [Severe Disablement Allowance Table S2].
- The most common disabling condition is Mental and Behavioural disorders which accounts for 39.6% of clients, followed by Symptoms, signs and abnormal Clinical and Laboratory findings, not elsewhere classified which accounts for 21.2% of clients [Severe Disablement Allowance Table S3].

Background to the Carer's Allowance Supplement

Carer's Allowance Supplement is an extra payment for people in Scotland who get Carer's Allowance on a particular date. While the Department for Work and Pensions continues to administer Carer's Allowance on Social Security Scotland's behalf, Carer's Allowance Supplement is provided as a separate payment from Social Security Scotland.

The payment was initially set at a level which would raise Carer's Allowance to the equivalent of the current rate of Jobseeker's Allowance for 25 and over, however following uprating the combined payment now exceeds the rate of Jobseeker's Allowance.

Carer's Allowance Supplement payments are paid twice a year, based on eligibility at specific eligibility dates in April and October.

Eligibility date	Month payments made	Payment amount
16 April 2018	September 2018	£221.00
15 October 2018	December 2018
15 April 2019	June 2019	£226.20
14 October 2019	December 2019
13 April 2020*	June 2020*	£460.20*
12 October 2020	December 2020	£230.10
12 April 2021	June 2021	£231.40
11 October 2021	December 2021	£462.80

*The Scottish Government made an extra Carer's Allowance Supplement payment of £230.10 in June 2020. This payment was made to provide some more support for carers during coronavirus. Carers receiving a payment for the 13 April 2020 eligibility date will get a total payment of £460.20, made up of £230.10 standard Carer's Allowance Supplement, plus £230.10 Coronavirus Carer's Allowance Supplement. If a Carer's Allowance claim is backdated to include 13 April 2020 they will receive the extra payment. In the statistics this is counted as one payment with a value of £460.20.

 The Scottish Government made an extra Carer's Allowance Supplement payment of £231.40 in December 2021. Carers receiving a payment for the 11 October 2021 eligibility date will get a total payment of £462.80, made up of £231.40 standard Carer's Allowance Supplement, plus £231.40 Coronavirus Carer's Allowance Supplement. If a Carer's Allowance claim is backdated to include 11 October 2021 they will receive the extra payment. In the statistics this is counted as one payment with a value of £462.80.

To be eligible for Carer's Allowance Supplement you must:

- be getting Carer's Allowance payments on the eligibility date;
- and live in Scotland on the eligibility date;
- or if living outside of the United Kingdom, have a genuine and sufficient link to Scotland and live in the European Economic Area, Switzerland or Gibraltar on the eligibility date.

- The person you are caring for does not have to live in Scotland.

It is possible for carers to have a temporary break in Carer's Allowance Supplement payments due to a temporary suspension of Carer's Allowance, as described above.

Background to Carer's Allowance

Carer's Allowance is for people who spend at least 35 hours a week providing regular care to someone who has a disability. It was introduced on 5th July 1976.

To be eligible for Carer's Allowance:

- The person being cared for must already get one of these benefits:
 - Personal Independence Payment - daily living component
 - Disability Living Allowance - the middle or highest care rate
 - Attendance Allowance
 - Constant Attendance Allowance at or above the normal maximum rate with an Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit
 - Constant Attendance Allowance at the basic (full day) rate with a War Disablement Pension
 - Armed Forces Independence Payment
 - Child Disability Payment - the middle or highest care rate
- The carer must earn no more than £128 a week after tax and expenses. Expenses can include:
 - 50 per cent of the carer's pension contributions
 - some of the costs of caring for the carer's children or the disabled person while they are at work
- And the carer must also:
 - be 16 or over;
 - spend at least 35 hours a week caring for someone;
 - have been in England, Scotland or Wales for at least two of the last three years (this does not apply if you're a refugee or have humanitarian protection status);
 - normally live in England, Scotland or Wales, or live abroad as a member of the armed forces;
 - not be in full-time education;
 - not be studying for 21 hours a week or more;
 - not be subject to immigration control

Some carers might still be eligible if they are moving to or already living in another EEA country or Switzerland.

Some carers are entitled to receive Carer's Allowance because they satisfy the conditions listed above, but they do not actually receive a payment. This may occur as a temporary suspension of the Carer's Allowance payments, if the client is in hospital. Otherwise, this is because the client receives another benefit instead (e.g. Incapacity Benefit for people of working age, or State Pension for people of State Pension age) which equals or exceeds the weekly rate of Carer's Allowance.

Where the overlapping benefit paid is less than the weekly rate of Carer's Allowance, only the amount of Carer's Allowance which exceeds the amount of the overlapping benefit is paid. Carers who are on low incomes and entitled to Carer's Allowance (whether in payment or not) may receive extra money with their Income Support/Jobseeker's Allowance/ Pension Credit/Housing Benefit/Council Tax Benefit.

During the outbreak of coronavirus, some Carer's Allowance rules were relaxed. To allow for self-isolating on the part of the carer or cared for person, care did not need to take place in the physical presence of the cared for person as it usually does. Where caring did not take place due to coronavirus, this will not count as a break in care, and Carer's Allowance continued to be paid. These rules reverted to normal from 1 September 2021.

Background to Disability Living Allowance

Disability Living Allowance is for people who became disabled before the age of 65 and who have extra care or mobility needs (difficulty getting around).

It is made up of two components. A person might be eligible for one or both components. The rates for each are:

Care component	Weekly amount	Level of help needed
Lower Rate	£23.70	Help for some of the day
Middle Rate	£60.00	Frequent help or constant supervision during the day, supervision at night or someone to help while they're on dialysis
Higher Rate	£89.60	Help or supervision throughout both day and night, or they're terminally ill

Mobility component	Weekly amount	Level of help needed
Lower Rate	£23.70	They can walk but need help and or supervision when outdoors
Higher Rate	£62.55	They cannot walk, can only walk a short distance without severe discomfort, could become very ill if they try to walk or they're blind, severely sight impaired

Children under 16 years of age qualify for the care component or the lower rate mobility component only if their needs are substantially in excess of those of a child of the same age in normal health. They cannot qualify for the lower rate care component through the "cooking test" route - a method of assessing an adult's need to care by determining if they could prepare and cook a meal for one person given the raw ingredients. Children under 3 years of age cannot qualify for the higher-rate mobility component; children under 5 years of age cannot qualify for the lower-rate mobility component.

People who are terminally ill (i.e. have a progressive disease from which death can reasonably be expected within 6 months) automatically qualify for the higher rate care component. They can also qualify for the mobility component if they satisfy the normal rules.

Disability Living Allowance can be awarded for a fixed or an indefinite period. People can continue to receive the allowance after reaching age 65 if they continue to satisfy the entitlement conditions.

From 8 April 2013, the Department for Work and Pensions started to replace Disability Living Allowance for working age people with Personal Independence Payment for new claims. People can still apply for Disability Living Allowance if they are aged under 16.

From 28 October 2013, the Department for Work and Pensions has been inviting Disability Living Allowance working age recipients to claim Personal Independence Payment if:

- the department received information about a change in care or mobility needs which meant their claim had to be renewed;
- the client's fixed term award was due to expire;
- children turned 16 years old (unless they have been awarded Disability Living Allowance under the special rules for terminally ill people);
- or the client chose to claim Personal Independence Payment instead of Disability Living Allowance.

From July 2015, the remaining Disability Living Allowance working age recipients have started to be invited to claim Personal Independence Payment. However, since 1 April 2020, the Department for Work and Pensions have stopped proactively sending these invites to Disability Living Allowance working age recipients who live in Scotland.

Child Disability Payment, which replaced Child Disability Living Allowance, launched nationally in Scotland on Monday 22 November 2021.

Adult Disability Payment, the Scottish replacement benefit for Personal Independence Payment, will begin receiving applications as part of a pilot from 21 March 2022. This will be followed by a gradual national rollout beginning on 29 August 2022.

Background to Attendance Allowance

Attendance Allowance is for people aged 65 or over with an illness or disability that is severe enough that they need someone to help look after them, for example, help with washing, dressing or eating, during the day or overnight.

To be eligible for Attendance Allowance the person must have reached State Pension age and have:

- a physical disability, a mental disability, or both
- a disability that is severe enough to need help caring for themselves or someone to supervise them, for their own or someone else's safety
- have needed help for at least 6 months (unless they are terminally ill)

The person must also:

- be in Great Britain when they claim
- have been in Great Britain for at least 2 of the last 3 years (this does not apply to refugees or people who have humanitarian protection status)
- be habitually resident in the UK, Ireland, Isle of Man or the Channel Islands
- not be subject to immigration control

If a person is terminally ill, i.e. they are not expected to live for more than 6 months, there are 'special rules':

- there's no qualifying period for how long they have had the illness
- if eligible, they will automatically get the higher rate of Attendance Allowance

Some people might still be eligible if they are moving to or already living in another EEA country or Switzerland.

Attendance Allowance is paid weekly at 2 different rates – depending on the level of help needed.

Rate	Weekly amount	Level of help you need
Lower Rate	£60.00	Frequent help or constant supervision during the day, or supervision at night
Higher Rate	£89.60	Help or supervision throughout both day and night, or they're terminally ill

A person cannot get Attendance Allowance if they already get Disability Living Allowance \(DLA\) or Personal Independence Payment \(PIP\).

Background to Severe Disablement Allowance

Severe Disablement Allowance is for people below the state pension age who cannot work for 28 weeks in a row because of illness or disability.

It was closed to new entrants and replaced by Incapacity Benefit in April 2001, which is now replaced by Employment and Support Allowance. Recipients are now being asked to undertake a re-assessment of their claim by:

- Completing a questionnaire and returning it by the deadline
- Potentially attending a face-to-face Work Capability Assessment

If the re-assessment shows they cannot work, they will be transferred automatically onto Employment and Support Allowance. They will continue to get Severe Disablement Allowance until that date.

A person's Severe Disablement Allowance is not usually affected if they:

- do volunteer work
- work for less than 16 hours a week on average and earn up to £140 a week
- work and earn up to £140 a week, if the work is done as part of a treatment programme or is supervised by someone from a local council or voluntary organisation
- work and earn up to £140 a week and are exempt from personal capability assessment

About the data

Carer's Allowance Supplement data quality

Backdating

To take account of backdating, each eligibility scan identifies those people that have retrospective entitlement for previous Carer's Allowance Supplement eligibility dates. The data in this publication includes those found to be eligible during the latest scan for up to three payments before the latest eligibility date. The statistics for the latest eligibility date will not include retrospective entitlement until the next eligibility scan. Future scans may continue to identify additional people who are retrospectively entitled for any previous eligibility date. Because of this, there may be an undercount for the latest eligibility date, and smaller undercounts for earlier eligibility dates.

The table below illustrates how figures for total number of carers at each eligibility date have changed between statistics publications, and percentage increase in figures between publications:

		Published number of carers / payments

*no additional backdating occurred between these publications as they were based on the same scan.

backdating occurs for up to three past payments, no further backdating is expected for this eligibility date.

There has been relatively little change in the figure for April 2018 eligibility date. This is mainly due to the first publication for this eligibility date being ten months after the date itself, with backdated payments already having been made by the time data was first published.

For the eligibility dates October 2018 to April 2020, the table shows that the figure originally published has increased by around 5% in each case, with most of the increase occurring between the first and second times that data for these eligibility dates has been published. For the October 2020 and April 2021 eligibility dates, the number of backdated payments to date has been smaller but may still increase. It is likely that the figure for the October 2021 eligibility date will also increase when the statistics are updated in future when backdated payments are made.

Gender

Gender data are based on 'title'. Title was supplied for every carer. 'Unknown' gender includes carers with titles where gender cannot be identified, i.e. 'Dr', 'Rev' and 'Captain'.

Age

Age is based on age at the eligibility date. In a very small number of cases ageband is 'unknown'.

Local Authority

A small number of carers (115 at the October 2021 eligibility date, which is less than one per cent) have 'unknown' local authority due to their supplied postcodes not matching the postcode address file used for statistical analysis.

Postcodes are provided in the data we receive and are updated in the case of a client changing address. As a result, postcodes reflect the latest address of the clients and may not be the same as the address at the time of past eligibility dates. Therefore a small number of addresses may not reflect the correct local authority at the time of the payment.

Rounding

Payments figures have been rounded to the nearest five, and expenditure figures to the nearest £1,000 for disclosure control.

How Carer's Allowance Supplement data is collected

The Department for Work and Pensions runs a scan of the information they hold on those in payment of Carer's Allowance twice a year to identify those eligible for Carer's Allowance Supplement on each of the eligibility dates. Scans are run around six weeks after each Carer's Allowance Supplement eligibility date. The Department for Work and Pensions then securely transfers the necessary data to Social Security Scotland to allow them to make Carer's Allowance Supplement payments.

In some instances, payment of Carer's Allowance can be backdated, which may mean that someone who did not receive Carer's Allowance on the Carer's Allowance Supplement eligibility date is later considered to have been eligible on that date. In order to capture these people, each scan of the Department for Work and Pensions data will identify people who have retrospective entitlement to earlier eligibility dates, as well as identifying those in receipt of Carer's Allowance on the most recent eligibility date. Social Security Scotland will then pay Carer's Allowance Supplement for one or more periods of eligibility as determined by the data transfer.

A cut of data is extracted from the Social Security Scotland payments system in the month following Carer's Allowance Supplement payments being made. This includes information about each carer that received a payment for any one of the eligibility dates going back to 2018/19. For each carer the data extract includes their title, postcode, whether they have received a payment for each of the eligibility dates, and their age at each of those eligibility dates. This data is used to produce statistics on numbers of carers receiving a Carer's Allowance Supplement for the most recent eligibility date, and also to update payments figures for all previous eligibility dates.

Comparisons between Carer's Allowance and Carer's Allowance Supplement Statistics

The eligibility for Carer's Allowance Supplement is dependent on a person being in payment of Carer's Allowance on the eligibility date. The data is therefore similar to the Carer's Allowance statistics published here and by the Department for Work and Pensions⁷. However, there are a number of differences between these two sets of data. The key differences are:

- Reference date – Carer’s Allowance Supplement data refers to eligibility dates which are in mid-April or mid-October each year. Carer’s Allowance data refers to the end of February, May, August or November each year.
- Backdating – Carer’s Allowance Supplement data is taken from scans carried out around six weeks after each eligibility date, except for the April 2018 eligibility date where the scan was run in August 2018. Therefore the April 2018 data has more than seven months of backdating and all other data has one month of backdating. Carer’s Allowance data includes up to four months of backdating.
- Eligibility – all those who receive a payment of Carer’s Allowance on the eligibility date will receive Carer’s Allowance Supplement. This will include eligible carers who subsequently become entitled to a payment, including cases which may have temporarily been suspended from payment. Carer’s Allowance data will exclude those who are later found to be ineligible for Carer’s Allowance as part of their backdating adjustments.
- Geography – the Department for Work and Pensions use different postcode address files to identify those who receive Carer’s Allowance who are living in Scottish postcodes.
