Introduction

Carer Support Payment is a replacement for Carer's Allowance, which is currently administered by Department for Work and Pensions, in Scotland. Carer Support Payment is administered by Social Security Scotland.

From 20 November 2023, new applications were taken for Carer Support Payment in the pilot areas of Dundee City, Na h-Eileanan Siar and Perth and Kinross. Carer Support Payment will be rolled out to other local authority areas in a phased approach this year and available nationally by the autumn.

People in Scotland currently in receipt of Carer's Allowance will have their awards transferred to Carer Support Payment, starting from February 2024. The transfer process will happen automatically, with no need for carers to do anything, and Social Security Scotland will write to them in advance of this happening. This will happen across the country and not just in the initial pilot areas.

This publication provides information on applications and payments for Carer Support Payment from launch on 20 November to 31 December 2023. It therefore provides information for about six weeks of applications and payments.

All tables and charts relating to this publication are available in an Excel workbook on Social Security Scotland statistics website.

This publication does not include an update on recipients of the Carer's Allowance Supplement. This supplement is given to people in Scotland who receive Carer's Allowance or Carer Support Payment on the Carer's Allowance Supplement eligibility dates. These are two dates each year - one in April and one in October - which are set by the Scottish Government. The latest statistics for Carer's Allowance Supplement is available on Social Security Scotland statistics website.

The statistics for Carer Support Payment are being published as official statistics in development. Official statistics in development may be new or existing statistics, and will be tested with users, in line with the standards of trustworthiness, quality and value in the Code of Practice for Statistics.

Main Findings

Applications by month

- As of 31 December 2023, 205 applications for Carer Support Payment had been received [Table 1].
- In total, there were 90 applications processed with a decision made by 31 December 2023. Of these, 72% were authorised, 6% were denied and 23% were withdrawn [Table 1].
- Future publications will provide further detail on applications approved for payment and where clients have underlying entitlement. For more information on clients with underlying entitlement, please see the background notes.

Applications by channel

- As of 31 December 2023, of the 205 applications received for Carer Support Payment, 77% were received online, 8% were paper applications and 13% were phone applications [Table 2].
- Figures for applications received by other channels were suppressed due to disclosure control.

Applications by age

- The most common age group for applicants was 35-39, representing 19% of applications received. This was followed by 18-24 which represented 13% of applications and 30-34 at 12%. Overall, 5% of applications were received by applicants aged 65 and over [Table 3].

Applications by local authority

- Applications were received from all three pilot areas. Of the applications received, the majority came from Dundee City with 54% of applications. This was followed by 30% of applications coming from Perth and Kinross and 7% of applications received from Na h-Eileanan Siar [Table 4].
- There were also 10% of applications registered from outside of the three pilot areas [Table 4].

Processing Times

- The median average³ processing time for applications processed to 31 December 2023 was 4 days [Table 5].
- Processing times were calculated by determining the time between an application being received and a decision being made. This includes the time spent waiting to receive supporting information from clients to allow a decision to be made, which should be considered when interpreting these processing times. See the about the data section for further information on processing times.

Payments

- Between 20 November and 31 December 2023, the total value of Carer Support Payments issued was £13,986 [Table 6].

³ The median average is the middle value of an ordered dataset, or the point at which half of the values are higher and half of the values are lower.

Background notes

Carer Support Payment is a replacement for Carer's Allowance in Scotland. The Scotland Act 2016 gave Scottish Parliament powers over Carer's Allowance, which is administered to Scottish clients by the Department for Work and Pensions.

In September 2018, Carer's Allowance became the first of these benefits to have responsibility for transferred from the Department for Work and Pensions to Social Security Scotland, the executive agency of Scottish Government which is responsible for delivering the social security benefits for Scotland.

Carer Support Payment launched in three pilot local authority areas on 20 November 2023:

- Perth and Kinross
- Dundee City
- Na h-Eileanan Siar (Western Isles)

Carer Support Payment will be rolled out to other local authority areas in a phased approach this year, with the benefit to be available nationally by autumn 2024. Carers in Scotland who already receive Carer's Allowance will have their awards automatically transferred to Carer Support Payment from February 2024. This will be an automatic process, with no need for carers to do anything and we will write to them in advance of this happening.

In future, Carer Support Payment will also include additional support to people who are caring for more than one disabled person, currently known as Carer's Additional Person Payment (CAPP). This is in recognition of the additional impacts that caring for more than one person has on carers in terms of their health, wellbeing and employability. However, this is not expected to be in place until at least 2025.

Eligibility

Carer Support Payment is support a carer can be paid if they provide care for someone in receipt of a qualifying disability benefit, and meet certain eligibility criteria. They must:

- be 16 or over
- usually live in Scotland
- provide care for 35 hours or more a week, this includes if they provide care all day every day

- not be studying certain courses if they are aged 16 to 19
- not earn more than £139 a week after tax, National Insurance and expenses.

The cared-for person must receive one of certain disability benefits:

- Adult Disability Payment – daily living component at the standard or enhanced rate
- Child Disability Payment – middle or highest care rate
- Attendance Allowance
- Personal Independence Payment – daily living component
- Disability Living Allowance – middle or highest care rate
- Constant Attendant Allowance at or above normal maximum rate with Industrial Injuries Disablement Benefit
- Constant Attendant Allowance at or above the basic (full day) rate with a War Disablement Pension
- Armed Forces Independence Payment.

If the carer is receiving any of the following benefits, it could reduce the amount they get from Carer Support Payment:

- State Pension
- Maternity Allowance
- Contribution-based Jobseeker's Allowance (also known as 'New Style' Jobseeker's Allowance)
- Contribution-based Employment and Support Allowance (also known as 'New Style' Employment and Support Allowance)
- Incapacity Benefit
- Severe Disablement Allowance
- Widowed Mother's Allowance or Widowed Parent's Allowance
- Training Allowance
- War Widow's or Widower's Pension (Additional allowance for spouse element)
- Unemployability Supplement that is paid with Industrial Injuries Disablement benefit or War Pension
- Widow's Pension or Bereavement Allowance
- Industrial Death Benefit.

Those benefits are called 'overlapping benefits'. The carer cannot get one of those benefits and the full amount of Carer Support Payment at the same time.

There are two different ways that overlapping benefits affect how much a client gets. If a client's overlapping benefit is less than Carer Support Payment, their payment will be the difference between it and the overlapping benefit. This is sometimes known as a 'top-up'. If their overlapping benefit is the same as or more than Carer Support Payment, they do not get any payment. This is sometimes known as having 'underlying entitlement'.

Having underlying entitlement can help clients get either:

- more money on top of their other benefits
- access to benefits they could not get before.

The full amount of Carer Support Payment is currently £76.75 a week.

If the person being cared for gets a Severe Disability Premium for the following benefits, the premium will stop:

- Income-related Employment and Support Allowance
- Income-based Jobseeker's Allowance
- Income Support
- Pension Credit
- Housing Benefit.

The carer must tell Social Security Scotland if there are any changes to how much they earn. This could include:

- starting or finishing a job
- starting or finishing self-employment
- changes to how much they earn
- changes to any additional earnings
- changes to any expenses paid.

Re-determinations and appeals

If an applicant doesn't agree with the decision about their Carer Support Payment application, they can ask Social Security Scotland to look at it again. This is called asking for a re-determination. A request for a re-determination should be made within 42 days of being notified of the determination. Social Security Scotland then has 56 calendar days to make a re-determination.

Carer Support Payment applicants also have the right to appeal to a Tribunal if they do not agree with Social Security Scotland's re-determination, or if Social Security Scotland is not able to make a re-determination within the required timescales. Future editions of this publication will include information on re-determinations and appeals.

About the data

How the data is collected

The data in this publication is sourced from Social Security Scotland's case management system. The system holds information on all applications received, decisions and payments. Data about the applicant is collected through the online application form or is entered by client advisors during telephone applications or processing of paper applications. Information about the application outcome and payments is created in the case management system as an application is processed.

The information is held across multiple tables within the system. 100% extracts of administrative data are taken from this system every day for internal reporting purposes. Data cuts combine information from the different tables in the system into one daily extract which includes details of all Carer Support Payment applications made since 20 November 2023. A payments extract which contains information on the financial aspects of applications is used for calculations in this publication.

To take into account backdating and delays between applications being authorised and payments being made, a data cut from 15 January 2023 has been used to produce statistics on applications received and decisions and payments made up to 11.59 pm on 31 December 2023. Later data cuts may include retrospective changes to application details, including corrections to details in the case management system.

Quality Assurance

The data used to produce official statistics are the same as the data extracted from the case management system on a daily basis that is used for internal reporting within Social Security Scotland. As such, the data is checked daily for consistency with previous extracts (i.e. do applications, decisions and payments figures increase as expected over time, and are they in proportion to each other) and compared to other sources of information.

Additional quality assurance and cleaning has been carried out on the variables used in the official statistics to:

- Check for duplicate and missing application references.

- Check for duplicate and missing applicant identification numbers.
- Check application dates are within the expected ranges.
- Check that payment date is present where a payment value is present.
- Check postcode lengths are within the expected ranges and check postcodes that do not match to local authorities – see Geography section.
- Remove a small number of test applications which were used to test the case management system.

Once the data is aggregated and copied into the publication and supporting Excel tables, the final statistics are quality assured by a different member of the statistics team. The final documents are checked by the lead statistician.

Revisions

In the future, each updated publication of Carer Support Payment statistics may include revisions going back to November 2023. This is because each time figures are published they will be based from a new 100% data cut from the case management system, which can include retrospective changes to data going back to November 2023 as described in the How the data is collected section. More recent months tend to be subject to a greater degree of revision than more distant ones.

Data Quality

Rounding and disclosure control

Application and outcome figures have been rounded to the nearest five for disclosure control. The number of payments has been rounded to the nearest five for disclosure control. Data has been suppressed where it would disclose fewer than five applications.

Application channel

Application channel is automatically entered into the case management system for online applications, and manually entered for applications taken by phone or paper. If ever an application channel has been manually entered incorrectly, the application channel will be classed as 'unknown'.

Application authorisation and Payment

In this publication, the date that applications were processed is the date used to produce statistics of processed applications by month. After applications are authorised for payment, and in some cases approved by a manager, then a payment is issued. In some cases, payments will be issued on the same day that payments are authorised. In other cases, there can be a delay before payments are issued. Clients should receive money in their nominated account within four working days after payment is issued.

In this publication, we report on the value of payments that have been issued by the end of each month and not the payments successfully received by the applicants.

Age of applicant

The age that is used for the applicant is taken from the date of birth that is entered during the completion of the application and some small errors may exist. The age that is used in this publication is based on the age of the client at the time of application.

Geography

Applications are assigned to local authority by postcode using a Scottish Government lookup file. For some applications, the postcode will not match to the lookup file. This can be because the postcode is not in a Scottish local authority, or because the postcode has been introduced too recently to appear on the lookup file, for example if a property is in a new development.

This presentation of the publication shows a breakdown of applications by pilot local authority areas of Dundee City, Na h-Eileanan Siar and Perth and Kinross. Applications from any local authorities out with the pilot local authority areas have been classed as 'Other'.

Processing Time

Processing time is the number of days from the application being received to a decision being made or the application being withdrawn. It includes time spent waiting to receive supporting information from applicants through online upload or by post but does not include additional time to make payments. It is calculated in working days. Weekends and public holidays are excluded from calculations, even if applications were processed by staff working overtime on these days. The time of day that an application was received or processed is not taken into account.

Processing time is only calculated for applications that were decided within the period being reported on. Data is presented by the month of decision rather than month the application was received.
